1. Explain what a loop is and why programmers use loops. Give one everyday example of something that repeats.

2. What is an array? Write a short code example that creates an array of three numbers and prints each one using a loop.

3. Describe the difference between a for loop and a while loop. When would you choose each one?